/ BUILDING'S CORE TAKES SHAPE

We are making good progress with the above ground level works. As shown in the photo, the concrete core of the building is taking shape and has now reached level 5. We will continue to pour concrete as works on the core progress. By the end of May, the core will have reached to level 8.

The concrete will be poured every 6 to 7 days. Once we have started pouring large quantities of concrete, work has to continue until completion. This can sometimes unavoidably overrun the standard working hours. We will do everything we can to avoid this.

As we look ahead to May, we are preparing the bulk of the metal work that will be attached to the concrete before we construct the steel frame of the building. As the core rises in height, we will pour concrete for work on the construction of the building's flooring. Mechanical and electrical engineers are also now working on site inserting electrical cables and pipes for water supply.
